Upon information and belief, at all times material hereto, Xenopoulos was and is the Chief Operating Officer of PAX, and owns, operates and/or otherwise controls PAX.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

8. Mr. Springer is, and at all relevant times has been, the author of the Photographs.

9. Mr. Springer is, and at all relevant times has been, the sole owner of all right, title and interest in and to the Photographs, including the copyrights thereto.

10. The Photographs were registered with Copyright Office and were given Copyright Registration Number VA0001858979, effective February 7, 2013.

11. In or about April 2008, Mr. Springer contracted with PAX as an independent contractor to take photographs of food and beverage products to be used by PAX in its restaurants, PAX Wholesome Foods and Europa Café, on the websites for those restaurants, in the menus for those restaurants, among other things. Mr. Springer provided PAX with an invoice and image license, which provided that Mr. Springer retained the copyright in the Photographs, and PAX was permitted to use the Photographs for a term of three (3) years. PAX paid the agreed-upon license fee. A true and correct copy of the first image license is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

12. From April 2008 through July 2010, Mr. Springer did some additional photo shoots of food and beverage products for PAX. After each shoot, Mr. Springer provided PAX with an invoice and image license that provided that Mr. Springer retained the copyright in such photographs, and PAX was permitted to use such photographs for a term of three (3) years. For each such invoice, PAX paid the agreed-upon license fee.

13. Prior to the expiration of the final image license, Mr. Springer contacted PAX regarding whether it was interested in updating its image library. In or about February 2013, Mr. Springer had an in-person meeting with Andy Huh and one of PAX's owners. Despite the fact that every single invoice Mr. Springer provided to PAX included an image license, PAX's owner complained that they did not know that Mr. Springer had been licensing the Photographs to them. Mr. Springer explained that he owned the copyright in the Photographs, and emphasized the importance of PAX renewing the image license in order to continuing using the Photographs.

14. Mr. Springer and PAX subsequently renegotiated the image license. Mr. Springer licensed 255 images for a reduced license fee of $5,100 for an additional term of one (1) year from June 7, 2013 to June 7, 2014. On or about June 19, 2013, PAX paid the invoice to renew the image license. That image license provided that Mr. Springer retained the copyright in the Photographs, and permitted PAX to use the Photographs. Relevant portions of the invoice and image license for the June 7, 2013 to June 7, 2014 period are attached hereto as Exhibit B.

15. In or about May 27, 2014, Mr. Springer and PAX renewed the image license for an additional term of one (1) year. Again, Mr. Springer retained the copyright in the Photographs, and PAX was permitted to use the Photographs from June 7, 2014 to June 7, 2015. Relevant portions of the invoice and image license for the June 7, 2014 to June 7, 2015 period are attached hereto as Exhibit C.

16. In or about June 2015, Mr. Springer reminded PAX that its image license to continue using the Photographs expired on June 7, 2015 and that PAX needed to renew its license and pay the licensing fee to continuing using the Photographs.

17. After the expiration of the license on June 7, 2015, Defendants continued reproducing, publically displaying, and otherwise using the Photographs in the PAX Wholesome Food and Europa Café restaurants, on the websites for those restaurants, and in the printed menus for those restaurants, among other things.

18. After numerous requests by Mr. Springer for payment were ignored, Mr. Springer was forced to retain counsel, Robert Polsky, Esq., to send demand letters stating that PAX has to renew its license or cease using the Photographs.

19. On August 10, 2015, Mr. Xenopoulos responded to Mr. Polsky's demand, stating that "I want to first and foremost clarify that it is not my intent to avoid paying the licensing fee to White Door Photo." Mr. Xenopoulos then stated that he was away on a trip and that he "will make sure payment will be issued that week.” A true and correct copy of Mr. Xenopoulos’ August 10, 2015 e-mail to Mr. Polsky is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

20. On or about August 28, 2015, PAX and/or Mr. Xenopoulos paid the fee to renew the license for the Photographs for an additional one (1) year term from June 7, 2015 to June 7, 2016. Again, the license provided that Mr. Springer retained the copyright in the Photographs. Relevant portions of the June 7, 2015 to June 7, 2016 invoice and image license are attached hereto as Exhibit E.

21. On May 6, 2016, Mr. Springer sent an e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos advising him that PAX’s latest license in the Photographs was scheduled to terminate in June 2016. Mr. Springer included an invoice to renew the image license for one year. A true and correct copy of Mr. Springer’s May 6, 2016 e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos, invoice and image license are attached hereto as Exhibit F.

22. Neither Mr. Xenopoulos nor anyone else from PAX or on behalf of PAX responded to Mr. Springer’s May 6, 2016 e-mail.

23. On June 6, 2016, Mr. Springer sent a follow-up e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos reminding him that the image license in all of the Photographs was to expire on June 7, 2016, and if PAX wanted to renew its image license and continue using the Photographs, it would have to pay the invoice. If PAX was not going to renew the image license, Mr. Springer demanded that PAX cease usage of all Photographs. A true and correct copy of Mr. Springer’s June 6, 2016 e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

24. Again, neither Mr. Xenopoulos nor anyone else from PAX or on behalf of PAX responded to Mr. Springer’s June 6, 2016 e-mail.

25. After the expiration of the image license on June 7, 2016, Defendants continued reproducing, publically displaying, and otherwise using the Photographs in the PAX Wholesome Food and Europa Café restaurants, on the websites for those restaurants, and in the printed menus for those restaurants, among other things.

26. On July 12, 2016, Mr. Springer sent another e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos stating that PAX was still using the Photographs and was not licensed to do so. Mr. Springer stated that PAX had to pay the invoice or cease using the Photographs. A true and correct copy of Mr. Springer's July 12, 2016 e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos is attached hereto as Exhibit H.

27. Having received no response again, Mr. Springer's counsel Robert Polsky, Esq. sent an e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos on July 13, 2016 demanding payment of the invoice. Mr. Polsky followed up again via e-mail on July 21, 2016. True and correct copies of Mr. Polsky's e-mails to Mr. Xenopoulos are attached hereto as Exhibit I.

28. On July 21, 2016, Mr. Xenopoulos responded via e-mail to Mr. Polsky. Mr. Xenopoulos stated in no uncertain words: "[w]e have every intention of paying your client" and that "[he] will process your client's payment on Monday and send it out on Tuesday." A true and correct copy of Mr. Xenopoulos's July 21, 2016 e-mail to Mr. Polsky is attached hereto as Exhibit J.

29. However, payment was never made that next week, nor at any time after Mr. Xenopoulos promised payment.

30. On August 23, 2016, Mr. Springer's new counsel Scott Sholder, Esq. sent a demand letter via Federal Express and e-mail to Mr. Xenopoulos advising him that PAX's use of the Photographs beyond the license term without renewing the license constituted copyright infringement, and offered him one last chance to enter into a one-year license renewal. A true and correct copy of Mr. Sholder's August 23, 2016 Demand Letter is attached hereto as Exhibit K.

31. Neither Mr. Xenopoulos nor anyone else from PAX responded to the August 23, 2016 letter from Mr. Springer's counsel, and PAX has not paid any license fee to continue to reproduce, publically display, and otherwise use the Photographs beyond the expiration of the last license term.

32. Despite their knowledge that PAX has not paid the demanded licensing fee and that Defendants no longer have a license to reproduce, publically display and otherwise use the Photographs, Defendants are still using the Photographs in the PAX Wholesome Food and Europa Café restaurants, on the websites for those restaurants, and in the printed menus for the restaurants, among other things.
